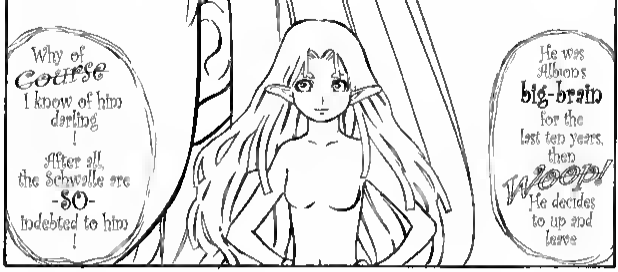
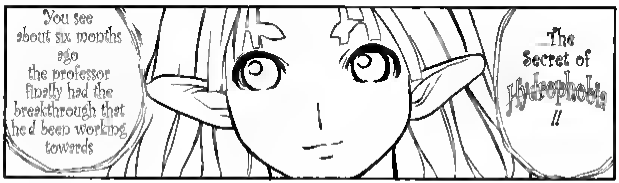
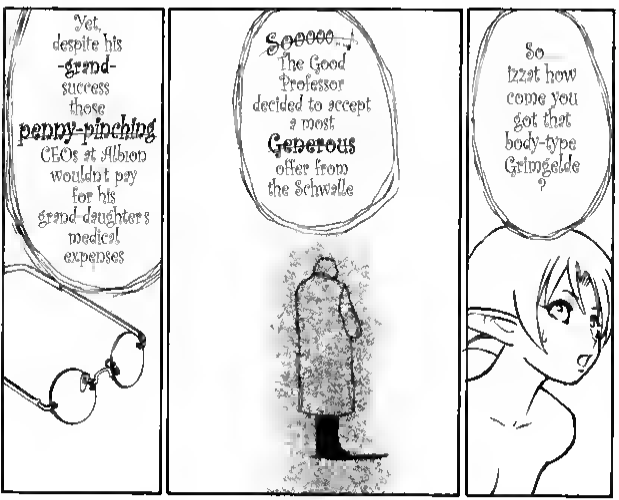
YOU KNOW ABOUT PROFESSOR IMMEROUMENT ?



Why of Course I know of him darling ! After all, the Schwalle are -SO- indebted to him !
He was Albion's big-brain for the last ten years, then WOOP! He decides to up and leave



You see about six months ago the professor finally had the breakthrough that he'd been working towards
The Secret of Hydrophobes II



Yet, despite his -grand- success those penny-pinching CEOs at Albion wouldn't pay for his grand daughters medical expenses
Soooo...! The Good Professor decided to accept a most Generous offer from the Schwalle

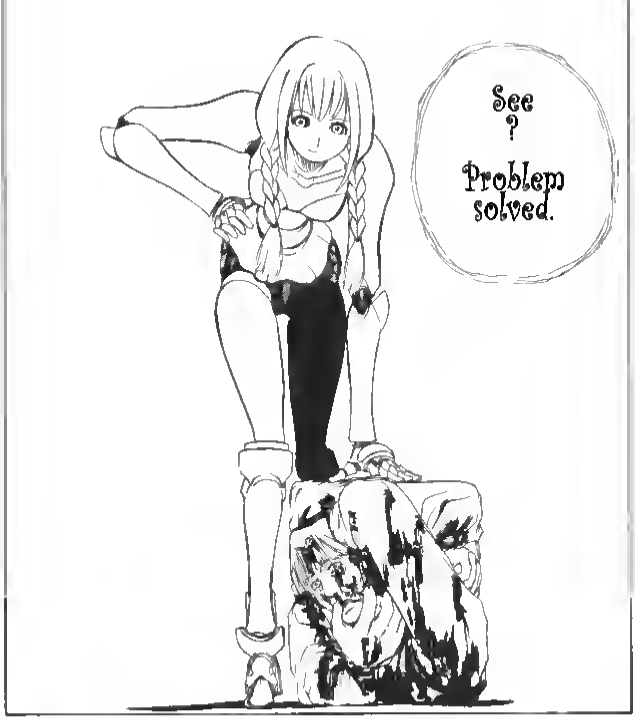
It was the first one who's wavelength was elegant enough for someone of my exquisite tastes
I'm really quite attached to it.
They brought me body candidate after body candidate but they were too déclassé for someone of my refined tastes
So I made certain I wouldn't have to wear them again
I went through 206 candidates before I found the one that was juuuust right for me
I can't ~begin~ to tell you just how much his constant whining got on my nerves
Old Man Immy though, he didn't care for that at all
He seemed to think it was a "Waste of Human Life", or some damn fool thing.
So why don't I just show you ?



See ?
Problem solved.

Ah, the Delicious irony
The last thing the old man saw was the face of his beloved granddaughter as she killed him
Can you imagine the thoughts that must've been going through his head at the time ?

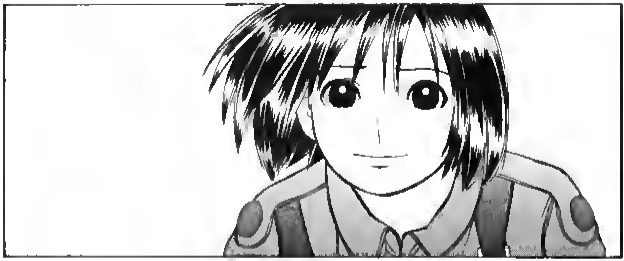
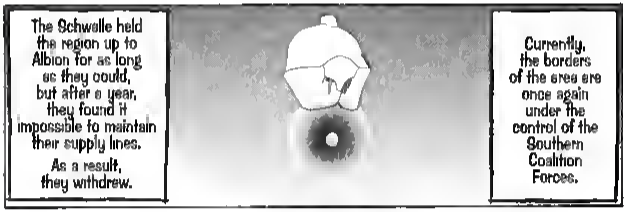
At least you two ~~FINALLY~~ got to meet!



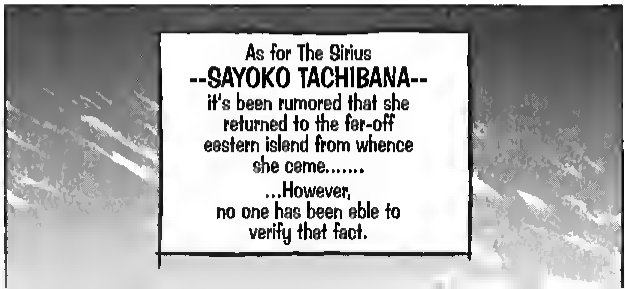
With the destruction of Albion Corporate Headquarters, the truth behind the Dogfight Matches was revealed and they were shut down.

The Schwalle held the region up to Albion for as long as they could, but after a year, they found it impossible to maintain their supply lines.

As a result, they withdrew.



Currently, the borders of the area are once again under the control of the Southern Coalition Forces.



As for The Sirius

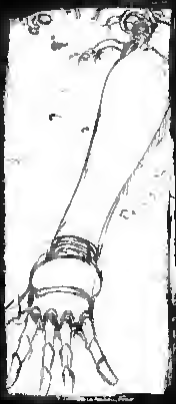
--SAYOKO TACHIBANA--

it's been rumored that she returned to the far-off eastern island from whence she came.....

...However, no one has been able to verify that fact.

the end

…the day after



OTO OSAKA

Because she had no close living relatives, she moved in with her childhood friend, April.

And since my sister and I were in the same boat, April invited us to move in as well...

Of course, it's not very peaceful, since my sister still tends to treat Oto like a "Bad Daughter-In-Law"...

PAUL LOTTE

Went with Ellen to her home country, and for the first couple of years, they seemed destined for a break-up.

but they kept working at it, and, for the better part of the last year, their relationship has been stronger than ever.

RUDOLPH HAUPTMANN

Joined up with the Southern Coalition Army.

Basically, "Once a soldier, Always a soldier."

HANS SCHAUM

After losing his left arm, he went home to his family whom he hadn't seen in three years.

I've heard he's now a Tax Accountant.

TAKERU TACHIBANA

Things are pretty much normal for me these days.

About the toughest thing I have to deal with is studying to get my Medical License.

Well, that, and I seem to be noticing the..."attributes" of girls a lot more, lately...

...Which, all things considered, isn't a bad thing, really.

In fact, I guess that shows just how normal things around here have become.

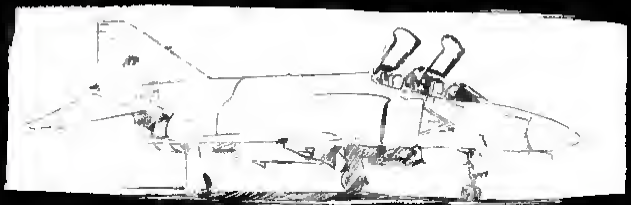
YANSŪN TSUAN

Tsuan also lives with us in April's house.



Tsuan's actually built himself a small two-seater plane.

And, as amazing as it sounds, Sayoko is actually starting to like planes.
